

PROPHECIES ON THE RUSSIA

63. “The Gospel still has the same power. And I seen those Russian soldiers put their arms around the Finnish soldiers and hug each other. And anything that’ll make a Russian and a Finn hug one another will settle wars forever. That’s right. Christ is the answer. That’s right.

We don’t need round tables, and big four meetings, and so forth. What we need today is the Gospel of Jesus Christ preached though, in simplicity, yet in it’s power and demonstration of the Resurrection. That’s what the world needs. That’s what it’s hungry for; for all; everybody’s hungry for that”.

(“What Visions Are” - 56-0421)

17. “What they need is a real on Fire, with a prophet with THUS SAITH THE LORD”.

(“Perseverance” - 63-1116E)

“In 1930, a Christian lady in the Soviet Union prophesied that a leader would arise in the Soviet Union whose first name would be Mikhail. He would have a birthmark on his forehead. During this leader’s time, the Church in the Soviet Union would have freedom to worship, to witness, and to win people to the Lord Jesus Christ. However, this time of religious freedom would last only a short period. Then this time of freedom would end and repression would begin again”.

(“This prophecy was also given independently in Romania, in Germany, and in Poland by other Pentecostal believers without knowledge that it had been given in other countries at other times”.)

(This prophecy was confirmed in Russia from Roman Bilas, Bishop of the Registered Pentecostal Church in the Soviet Union.)

While in our host pastor’s home in Russia, we were told of a prophecy given many years ago in their Pentecostal church by a man known for the accuracy of his gift.

“There will come a man from the West with a Message from God, right into this city. The Message that he carries will be the final Message from God before the Rapture of the Church”. With tears in their eyes, they concluded, “and we believe this has been fulfilled in these meetings”.
